

THE RECONNECTION Practitioners' BIOS

Kelly Woolruff

Kelly was born in Tennessee and raised in central Florida. He studied at Florida State University in the Schools of Theatre and Fine Arts. His studies and talents moved him to Las Vegas where he danced in, as well as designed costumes for, large casino shows. After appearing on Broadway he traveled throughout the world as a performer in Broadway tours. His artistic interests eventually led him to a career in interior design. In that capacity he directs the design department at Bohn Associates in New York City.

While finding his way through a period of great loss, Kelly met a Reconnective Healing Practitioner in 2003 and was intrigued by his passion for this amazing work. He attended the Level I/II/III Seminars and was captivated by the work's utter simplicity. It seemed to come naturally to him and he found within himself, a deepening desire to help others understand the work and discover that they could do it as well. "It was as if I had known the points all along," says Kelly, "as if I was downloading them from somewhere else."

Kelly was recently accepted into the Reconnection's Teacher Training Program and assists at Reconnective Healing Seminars. He has studied with the likes of Lee Carroll, John Demartini and Drs. J.J. Hurtak, William Tiller and Gary Schwartz. He enjoys this time in his life as a period of great insight and experience and looks forward to sharing this amazing gift of healing with everyone on the planet. Kelly offers sessions of The Reconnection, Reconnective Healing and Practitioner Mentoring.
